BCA

Converting latent saving intent into recurring CASA flows through behavioral infrastructure

Diagnosis

UTILITY / COMMITMENT

Motivation Undermined

Pocket = label, NOT real account. No VA.
Lock unlocks trivially.

Jago Syariah: 4.2M Pockets via Personal VA;
Ashraf +81% saving²

AWARENESS GAP

Prompt absent

Pocket buried in menu; zero contextual prompt at salary-in, QRIS, KPR moments

myBCA top of mind Gen Z³, BUT adoption
'remains low'⁴

HABIT GAP

Ability Deteriorates

No reinforcement loop post-setup. Multi-step navigation. Inertia compounds over time.

Opt-in 12% vs opt-out 99%⁵
(Samuelson & Zeckhauser, 1988)

Key Question

How can BCA position, differentiate, and market Poket Rupiah to convert 34.5M customers into goal-based savers and defend share against Jago (4.2M Pockets) and SeaBank (57% Gen Z) cost effectively?

Jago Syariah alone: 1.7M users,

BCA: "remains relatively low"⁵ under 4 months post-launch.

...yet what if BCA maximize their potential

If BCA reaches just 10% of Jago Syariah's per-user ratio:

~25M

Pockets. 3x our base case.

If BCA activates just 5% of its 25,000+ corporate clients²

2.5M+

If just 1% of BCA's 8.4B monthly QRIS² trigger savings

3T+

Saved annually.

“Jago Syariah users average 10 pockets each. BCA myBCA users average 0.005. Same country, identical generational cohort market, different product design. That gap is the entire opportunity.”

¹Team analysis. ²BCA 1Q26 Analyst Meeting. ³OJK Banking Booklet 2025. ⁴Market Research Indonesia 2025. ⁵BPS Indonesia + BI SBPO 2026.

BCA uniquely combines trust, scale, ecosystem depth, and liquidity into a defensible moat

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

BCA can deploy Personal VA per Pocket using existing VA infrastructure → zero core banking change.

Embed goal-savings into every life moment across all 6 product verticals.

No competitor can replicate this stack.

Why BCA wins this category and where the gap lives

“Only BCA combines retail trust with deepest ecosystem to anchor every life goal. Constraint is not capability; it is product behavioral design.”

Root Cause Diagnosis

Three behavioral barriers suppress adoption: awareness, utility, and habit formation

FOGG B=MAP DIAGRAM

FOGG INTERPRETATION FOR POKET RUPIAH

$$\text{Equation : } B = M \times A \times P$$

Behavior occurs only when Motivation (M), Ability (A), and Prompt (P) converge above the action line

Component	Current State	Target State (Post-Fix)
 Motivation	Med – exists but under-activated	High via commitment devices + visible goals
 Ability	Low – multi-step setup, non-routine	High via defaults simplifications, widget
 Prompt	~Zero – menu-buried	High – 5 contextual triggers per month

Trigger Taxonomy: Spark / Facilitator / Signal – applied per moment

MECE: 3 BARRIERS · 3 PILLARS · ZERO OVERLAP

BARRIER 1 AWARENESS GAP

Fogg fail : PROMPT absent

Manifestation:

Users unaware of Poket Rupiah exact moments they would use it (post-salary, post-QRIS, KPR app).

Evidence:

- myBCA Top of Mind for Gen Z, BUT
- Expoversary 2026 push → adoption “remains low”

Solved by PoketWAVE

BARRIER 2 UTILITY / COMMITMENT GAP

Fogg fail : MOTIVATION undermined by weak commitment device

Manifestation:

Poket = label, NOT real account. No nomor rekening. Locks unlocks easily. No mental account formed.

Evidence:

- Jago Syariah : 4.2M Pokets BECAUSE each has personal VA
- Ashraf et al (2006) : commitment → +81% saving balance

Solved by PoketLIFE

BARRIER 3 UTILITY / COMMITMENT GAP

Fogg fail : MOTIVATION undermined by weak commitment device

Manifestation:

After setup, no reinforcement loop. Multi-step navigation. Inertia compounds.

Evidence:

- Samuelson-Zeckhauser (1988) : opt-in 12% vs opt-out 99%
- OCBC FFI 2024 : only 25% Indonesians have emergency funds
